

WELCOME!

ELAINE WELCOMES TWO TO THE TEAM

wmorash@elaine.com | mgeraigery@elaine.com

This summer the Elaine team continues to grow! We are pleased to welcome two new members to strengthen our services.

Bill Morash, a seasoned operations and project leader, joins Elaine as Director of Project Management. Bill has led numerous technically challenging and complex projects for several fine construction management firms in the Boston area, as well as lent his expertise in operations to process improvements and client relationship management.

And joining the estimating team is Mike Geraigery. Mike brings more than 15 years experience providing a full range of preconstruction services, from budget development through scheduling and logistics.

Please join us in welcoming the newest members of the Elaine family. With their help, we continue to offer a full range of project consulting, construction management, and general contracting services to New England's most prestigious organizations, with the attention to quality, detail, and service we've offered for three generations.

Cheers to a happy and safe summer to all!

ELAINE Construction is a Newton-based construction management firm providing award-winning preconstruction, general contracting and construction management services. Now in its seventh decade of building, ELAINE is known for working in close collaboration with clients in the finance, university, healthcare, technology, and commercial real estate sectors. For more information on the company and its people, visit www.elaine.com.

